
GRANDPARENTS' BLESSING

READER ONE

We thank You, God, for the gift of this moment, to witness our grandchild called to the Torah as a (Bar/Bat/B'nai) Mitzvah.

READER TWO

May God spread God's sheltering presence over you and protect you.
May you know great joy, happiness, and fulfillment in your life.

READER ONE

May you walk with your people Israel in pride, and may you understand that to be a Jew is a source of joy and meaning, and an important responsibility.

READER TWO

May you honor your parents, recognizing that they have brought you into the world in love and in hope, and may you bring them great joy.

READER ONE

May you go from strength to strength, yet always be able to accept your own weaknesses and those of others.

READER TWO

May you always keep a precious part of yourself as a child even as you move into adulthood.

READER ONE

May you live in a world blessed with peace and harmony, and may your future be as bright and hopeful as the world's first rainbow. And let us all say, Amen.
